IN MEXICO NOW ASWAR BEGINS

Villa's Troops Clash With Carranza Forces Near Aguascalientes.

ATTACK ON U. S. TROOPS AT VERA CRUZ FEARED

Another revolution began in Mexico yesterday

Provisional President Carranza with his Cabinet set up his government in Puebla, an impregnable fortress, historic in Mexico, about seventy-five miles from Mexico elt;

Provisional President Guticrrez established his capital at Aguascalientes and the conference of Generals resolved itself into a national Congress.

The third capital is at Mexico city. where the representatives of foreign nations are awaiting developments.

Gen. Villa, now Gutierrez's guard, is holding Carranza delegates as hostages. Villa's advance guard engaged Carranza's forces near Aguascallentes.

The United States State Department fears that Carranza will use the Vera Cruz occupation as a means to further his cause and force an attack on Gen. Funston. Anti-American feeling is strong in Mexico city.

NEW REVOLT BEGINS.

Carranza Government at Puebla Gutlerrez at Aguascaltentes.

Et. Paso, Tex., Nov. 4.—Mexico has three capitals to-night—Mexico city, the constitutional and historical centre of the nation; Puebla, where Gen. Carranza and his Cabinet formally established their "Made in America" capital to-day, and Aguascallentes, wher sits Provisional President Gutlerrez and the conference of Generals, calling itself the "National Congress." Gen Villa's army is also at Aguascalientes.

Meanwhile fighting between Villa's vanguards and Carranza troops was reported Salinas, between Aguascalientes and San Luis Potosi and north of Leon, which les south of Aguascalientes. This preliminary action was reported in despatches received here to-night as marking the first steps toward carrying out the order to drive Gen. Carranza out of Mexprovisional President Gutlerrez to Mexico city. No determined resistance is expected until the army reaches Queretaro, though both Monterey and San Luis Fotosi are occupied by Carranza troops. Official Constitutionalist messages from Puebla to-day stated that Gen. Carranza had received advices from Sinaloa, on the Pacific const, that Gens. Dieguez, Carrosco, Cabillero and Aguilar had repudiated the Aguascallentes conference.

Carranza delegates, although not actually under arrest, are being held at Aguascallentes. The delegation will be there until assurances are given that Villa representatives held in Carranza territory are released. The movement of large bodies of Villa troops into the convention city is pointed to by Carranza as proving the contention that they have been held for weeks, that the convention was absolutely at the mercy of Villa since the first and that the northern leader has maintained a military dictatorship over it.

Carranza Dentes, However, That He Has Moved Government. Special Cable Despatch to THE STN.

Mexico Ciry, Nov. 5 (Thursday), 2 M.—Five thousand Constitutionalist troops under Gen. Camacho, left for Puebla late last night, while Gen. Sanohez left for Leon, Guanajuacato, with 3,000 more to reenforce Gen. Gonzales. Carranza left Puebla in the morning. arriving at Cordoba.

prisoners of Gen. Gonzalez in Queretaro. However, none of the delegates has arrived here yet. It is said that they are conferring lengthily with Gonzalez.

Officials say that Gen. Gutierrez's troops, who hold San Luis Potosi, are non-committal, allowing trains to run to Mexico city and Laredo under Carranza authorities.

Carranza telegraphs that he never will resign until his three conditions regarding the elimination of Villa and Zapata and the formation of a new government are fulfilled by the convention. He decreed regards for all Constitutionalist leaders who len actual service in the leaders who lent actual service in the field, the General's division getting 5,000

He says that Carranza will return to Mexico city in three days after inspecting the Constitutionalist outposts in Puebla. The visits of Cabinet members to Puebla mean nothing, he declares. Jara denies the report that delegates from the convention sent to inform Carranza of the order that he resign are prisoners of Gen. Gonzalez in Queretaro. However, none of the delegates hes en

THREATS ALARM OTHERS

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 4 .- While Henry Rhell, a farmer, was digging radshes this morning on his farm some three miles out of New Brunswick Richard von Krebs, his landlord, walked up to him and without any preliminary word of warning drew a revolver and shot twice. Both bullets entered Rheil's body, one penetrating his stomach, and he dropped to the ground, calling to his wife. An instant later Mrs. Rhell, who had leard both the revolver shots and her husband's call, came running from the ouse about 100 feet away. As she advanced von Krebs, who stood ten feet from Rheil looking down at him, wheeled about and levelled his revolver. Before Mrs. Rheil could turn he fired. The bul-let entered her heart and she dropped dead.

Von Krebs then pocketed his revolver, ran across 200 feet of fields and disappeared in a cluster of trees. Rhell got to his feet with great effort and staggered and crawled to the road and to the nearest farmhouse an eighth of a mile away.

Prosecutor W. Edwin Florance was notified by telephone of the murder and in rosecutor W. Edwin Florance was noti-fied by telephone of the murder and in a short time a general alarm was sent out through Middlesex county. At nightfall, however, nothing had been seen of von Krebs, although posses of farmers had searched the country thoroughly and the police of New Brunswick had set a visiant watch about von Krebs's home and
